GRIC Continues Mass Vaccination Events Against COVID-19

Kyle Knox

Gila River Indian News

On Saturday, Apr. 10, the Gila River Indian Community held a vaccination event at the Lone Butte Casino, drawing hundreds of Community members and a number of special guests, including the Phoenix Suns Gorilla, Arizona Diamondbacks' Baxter the Bobcat, and Sparky, the mascot for Arizona State University.

Gila River Health Care reports that the number of Community members who have been vaccinated against COVID-19 continues to steadily increase after a number of mass vaccination events. As of Apr. 12, 55 percent of Community members age 55 years or older have received a vaccination – a critical figure since elders are most at risk for COVID-19 related illness. Additionally, 20 percent of Community members 16 years and older have received the vaccine. With vaccines increasing, the Community is drawing closer to achieving “Community Immunity.”

“We are all coming together today to ensure we are getting as many vaccinated as possible,” said Gov. Stephen Roe Lewis, who was on site for the Saturday event.

Lt. Gov. Monica Antone said

Gila River Health Care vaccination event workers prepare intake stations at the Lone Butte Casino on April 10. Kyle Knox/GRIN

she’s pleased that the Community has been able to continue hosting vaccination events – and also to vaccinate members of the Ak-Chin Indian Community. “We have all, at the COVID-19 Task Force, worked hard to ensure everyone can get a vaccination, and I am thankful that we can include the Ak-Chin Indian Community,” said Lt. Gov. Antone.

With the arrival of the “U.K. COVID-19 Variant” in the state, Lt. Gov. Antone stressed the need for vaccinations. “All of Indian Country is working hard to fight and protect our people,” said Antone, “and by getting a vaccination, you are ensuring your protection against the U.K. variant too.”

Dr. Anthony Santiago, the CEO of Gila River Health Care stressed that the new dominant version of the COVID-19 virus in the US at this time, the U.K. variant, requires a renewed effort to be vaccinated. “Research shows that the U.K. variant is more contagious and is more easily spread between people; once infected people harbor the virus longer than the original version, as much as 30% longer; and, it has been shown to infect younger people more easily, has increased hospitalizations and unfortunately may be more likely to be fatal. But just as important is that our current vaccines, the Pfizer, Moderna and the Janssen are very effective against the UK Variant. Being vaccinated will protect people from becoming ill, it will save lives.”The Navajo Nation recently reported a case of the U.K. Variant on their reservation.

Vaccinations play a crucial role in keeping everyone safe as the state begins easing some COVID-19 safety restrictions. On Apr. 9, the Community’s Executive Order No. 10 was released and safety guideline requirements that affect Community gatherings, distance learning for students, and employees’ safely returning to work.

Vaccination event organizers, such as Gila River Gaming Enterprises, ensured the indoor setting would provide minimal wait times and safety for everyone that day. This event was the second Community vaccination event that included members of the neighboring Ak-Chin Indian Community.

The Apr. 10 event made use of the Johnson & Johnson one-shot vaccine. The shot has since been paused by the Community following guidance from the CDC, after reports that six individual in the United States who got the vaccine afterward experienced blood clots. Nearly 7 million people have gotten this vaccine in the U.S. to date which represents only 0.000088 of those vaccinated.

On Monday, Apr. 26, from 12 p.m. to 8 p.m., another vaccination event is scheduled at the Rawhide Event Center at Wild Horse Pass for anyone still seeking a vaccination, which will be the Pfizer variant of the vaccine. Community members can also get a vaccination at all Gila River Health Care facilities as well.

Lifetime Achievement Award honoring Rodney Lewis presented to Gov. Lewis by National Indian Gaming Association

On April 14th Ernie Stevens, Jr., Chairman of the National Indian Gaming Association presented a Lifetime Achievement Award to Gov. Lewis honoring the work of Rodney Blaine Lewis on behalf of the Community and Indian Country.

Due to COVID-19 restrictions on social gatherings and meetings, the award was presented to Gov. Lewis by Stevens in Lewis’ office. The award normally would have been presented during NIGA’s annual Indian Gaming Tradeshow & Convention.

The NIGA Lifetime Achievement Award is given to individuals who have promoted a legacy of giving back to Native communities through their work at the local and national level. The award recognizes an individual’s work to strengthen Native peoples through initiatives that support Indian gaming, while promoting tribal sovereignty.

“He was one of the most prolific lawyers in Indian history but one of the most prolific warriors and gentlemen. Posthumously we honor him for his lifetime of achievement,” said Stevens.

“He understood the needs of the people to follow through with his responsibilities from beginning to end,” said Gov. Lewis. He said that his father’s professional legacy, which included years of litigation in the federal courts working to gain the Community’s water rights, was the center of his life’s work.

Stevens reflected on the elder Lewis’ work as a champion among Native people and what the award means about his stature. “The lifetime of achievement was one strength of this work,” said Stevens. “But there are many strengths he held onto that made him a special person to be around and work with.”

Stevens presented Lewis with a plaque, badge of honor pin and blanket, which symbolizes the warrior-like attributes of recipients who work tirelessly for their tribes and Native Americans across the nation.

Caring House Opens Doors to Visitors

Emma Hughes
Gila River Indian News

Family and friends are once again welcome to visit their loved ones at The Caring House Skilled Nursing Facility – Gila River Health Care, after the coronavirus pandemic forced the facility to close its doors to visitors for the health and safety of residents and staff over a year ago.

Visitation to The Caring House (TCH) resumed on Mar. 22 with new requirements. Currently, visitation is limited to 45 minutes and the facility is only allowing two visitors at a time with no physical contact between the visitors and residents.

“We try to make it as safe as we can,” said Ron Preston, TCH Administrator. “We’ll take small steps before we open it up to normal.”

When visitations first resumed,

they were conducted outdoors. Due to warmer weather, visitors are now welcome indoors after completing a health screening by TCH staff upon entering the building. A designated area has been set up in the lobby and a plexiglass barrier has been installed for the safety of the residents. When visitations were suspended, TCH offered a “cruiser program” to residents, which allowed them to be driven to visit any part of the Community from a safe distance during the pandemic.

Brenda Robertson, former District 5 Representative and a Culture teacher in the Community, will once again be able to spend time with her daughter, Wahlean “Bobbie” J. Riggs. While they talked on the phone every day, it had been over a year since they have been able to see each other in-person.

“We couldn’t visit like we would like to, because we used to visit quite a bit before the pandemic,” said Robertson.

Robertson said although she couldn’t visit with loved ones keeping busy with exercise, playing bingo and the game of horseshoes with other residents and staff members. During the visit with her daughter, Robertson shared a video on her iPad several songs she performed with one of the staff members.

“She’s kind of a leader here,” said Preston. He shared stories about Robertson socializing with other residents and often shares her bingo winnings. To schedule a visit, call TCH at (520) 562-7400.

Community to Host Inaugural Run & Walk to Bring Awareness on Crimes Against Indigenous People

Kyle Knox
Gila River Indian News

The Community Council has officially declared May 5 as the Gila River Indian Community’s Day of Awareness for Missing and Murdered Indigenous Peoples (MMIP). This year, the Community will host its inaugural MMIP Virtual Awareness Walk/Run to commemorate the day.

The Walk/Run, is set for May 5 and is virtual and will require participants to track their route and submit photo proof of completion. Participants are to complete 1.5 miles – or a half a mile for elders – to receive their commemorative MMIP T-Shirt designed by renowned Native American artist Bunky Echohawk. Since the event is virtual, participants are to complete their route at home or using any safe route they choose.

The event and proclamation acknowledge the tragic statistics affecting indigenous women throughout the country. Sometimes referred to as Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women, the movement efforts have become more prevalent in the state of Arizona and GRIC.

Lt. Gov. Monica Antone has been a leader on the MMIP issue locally and throughout the state as an advocate. Lt. Gov. Antone serves as a tribal representative with numerous grassroots and state-level organizations addressing the MMIP issue facing all of Indian Country.

“I am honored and proud that this came forward and will be recognized in our Community from this day on,” said Lt. Gov. Antone, who added that she feels the proclamation will mean a lot for families who do not have closure after having lost a loved one under such difficult circumstances.

Lt. Gov. Antone also called the addition of the walk and run a way to provide healing as a community by coming together to recognize the issue and concerns of MMIP.

“Run in honor of those that are missing,” said Lt. Gov. Antone, “for that missing heartbeat of a loved one and for families to find healing.”

Last year, GRIC became the home site for the U.S. Western Region Operation Lady Justice Task Force. This task force consists of federal agents assigned to missing and murdered cold cases that remain unsolved. Additionally, in 2019, the state passed House Bill 2570 to provide inter-agency collaboration and a study on how to address MMIP and gather data on MMIP cases.

“I am proud the Community was selected as the location for the Regional Cold Case office. This cold case unit is the only unit co-located within a tribal police department in the United States. I look forward to working with Department of the Interior Secretary Deb Haaland as she makes addressing our missing and murdered Native Americans a priority under her leadership,” said Gov. Stephen Roe Lewis.

According to the U.S. Justice Department, indigenous women in some tribal communities face murder rates more than 10 times the national average. Furthermore, indigenous people, including men and children, are 2.5 times more likely to experience violent crimes and at least twice as likely to experience rape or sexual assault compared to any other group in the U.S.

To sign up for the MMIP Virtual Awareness Walk/Run, visit mygilariver.com for online registration, or can call Alie Walk Badger at 520-562-9713 or you can Shannon Redbird at 520-562-9859.

Kwi Hiosig Mashath

The name for this month refers to the blossoming of the Mesquite trees which will soon produce vihog (mesquite bean pods) in a few months. One category of plants easily overlooked are the ho'i hab ma:s haichu vu'voithag, "cactus-like plants, plants with spines".

Christopher Lomahquahu/GRIN

In the Akimel O'otham plant classification system ho'i hab ma:s haichu vu'voithag have their own unique category and includes all cacti and spine-bearing desert plants.

Our Hekiu O'otham didn't overlook the cacti as they observed their shapes, where they grew and other characteristics. From these observations they assigned names to many different cacti. A few ho'i hab ma:s haichu vu'voithag that produce flowers are; Hannam (Buckhorn Cholla) which grow up in the nearby mountain ranges and on the foothills.

Some families still pick the buds before they flower and slow roast them overnight in rock-lined pits, then dried and stored to be used later for food. I:svik (Engelmann's hedgehog cactus) can be found on the foothills and sometimes in isolated areas on the floodplain.

There are two species of Chiavul (Barrel Cacti) in our community, one grows only on the mountains and foothills while the other thrives on the flatlands. One easily recognized plant is the Melok (Ocotillo) with their red clusters of blossoms which grows on the nearby mountains and foothills. Another easily recognized cactus is I'ibai (prickly-pear cactus) which will bloom later on in the summer.

One cactus that may be hard to find is Ban Bisulthag, 'Coyote's Paws' (Fishhook Cactus) since they rarely grow over six inches and can be hidden between rocks on the nearby foothills. Our most important gift is the Ha:shañ (Saguaro Cactus) which will bloom near the end of next month.

This month's word-match will focus on ho'i hab ma:s haichu vu'voithag hiosig. We encourage you to learn these O'otham words and use them in your everyday lives. We also encourage you to get out and take a look at a few cacti when in bloom.

PLFC offers business loans to GRIC members whose Community-based businesses have been in operation for at least two years and who can provide referrals from local lenders for startups or non-Community-based businesses. "From assisting with business plans to providing access, our staff are excited to help the Community grow," said Teresa Mandelin, PLFC's Executive Director. She joined the organization in September and expressed her excitement and gratitude to be able to work with the Community.

Mandelin, an enrolled member of the Choctaw Nation of Oklahoma, has over 30 years of experience in commercial banking. She has specialized in providing small businesses access to capital for the past 20 years.

New Commerce Park Breaks Ground Along Loop 202 & 40th Street

By Gila River Indian News Staff

The Gila River Indian Community continues to attract new partners and economic activity to the Wild Horse Pass area, with construction underway on Trammell Crow Company's Akimel Gateway commerce park, a 59-acre project being built on the southwest corner of the Loop 202 freeway and 40th Street.

Among the new occupants: Spencer's TV & Appliance. The Valley-based appliance giant has chosen Akimel Gateway as the site of its new corporate headquarters and distribution center.

"The South Mountain Loop 202 corridor continues to attract enormous interest in multiple contexts," said Gov. Stephen Roe Lewis. "Trammell Crow's Akimel Gateway project is an exciting development, along with the recently announced 3,300-acre master plan development of Wild Horse Pass, the Community's ongoing casino and hotel expansion and the new soccer stadium built to accommodate the Phoenix Rising Football Club. I can't think of a more dynamic spot in the Valley right now – or a better location for business."

Cathy Thuringer, Managing Director of TCC's Phoenix office, called the location on the Community "a game-changer for businesses that require easy access to the East and West Valley without having to cut through downtown Phoenix."

Thuringer said the five-building complex – built in partnership with Allstate Insurance Company and lender Alliance Bank of Arizona – was named Akimel Gateway after consultation with members of the Community.

"It was incredibly important to us to honor and respect the Community's culture," said Thuringer. "Our naming process represents an important step in working with the Community, and we look forward to many more steps together in this new partnership."

Rick Biederbeck, President of employee-owned Spencer's TV & Appliance, also spoke of the Community's central location as a major selling point for the company. Spencer's has 10 retail locations throughout metropolitan Phoenix area.

"When you're serving customers to the east in Mesa and Gilbert and to the west in Glendale, Goodyear and Arrowhead, a site that provides access to the greater Phoenix metro area is a must," said

Biederbeck.

The four buildings not occupied by Spencer's are being developed speculatively in a joint venture between Trammell Crow and Allstate. Together, the buildings will measure more than 519,000 square feet, with a design suitable for light manufacturing companies, electrical, mechanical, HVAC, plumbing or lighting suppliers, or for use as an e-commerce center. Construction on Akimel Gateway is scheduled to be complete this December.

GRIC Family Raises Money for Cancer Research through International Foundation

Emma Hughes
Gila River Indian News

Last year Billy Allen, was diagnosed with Multiple Myeloma and underwent treatment for the disease. Allen, who was born in Sacaton and grew up in District 5 Vah-K, is a former coach and teacher to the Community and other tribal Communities. Allen began his teaching career with Sacaton Middle School, teaching Arizona and O’otham history at Casa Grande Union High School for over 30 years. Now retired, Allen still shares his knowledge and experience in his frequent columns featured in the Gila River Indian News.

Multiple Myeloma (MM) is a type of blood cancer that affects the plasma cells, which are responsible for antibodies that work against infectious viruses and bacteria. Myeloma cells increase bone breakdown and prevent new bone cell production. The disease causes damage to the bones, immune system, and kidneys. Signs and symptoms of MM include bone pain, unexpected fractures, weakness and numbness, fatigue, frequent infections, and weight loss.

Allen has always been active and had attributed many of his symptoms to everyday tasks like working outside, general fatigue from work and running, and a loss of appetite from being tired. “The main one was numbness. He fell while running three times, and the numbness may have led to that,” said his wife, Toni Lorona-Allen

The family encourages others to be aware of the possible signs of MM, “Looking back, Billy showed symptoms of MM for years before his diagnosis,” said Toni, “Had we known about MM then, he might’ve gotten screened for that sooner. As it is, MM was doing its damage for years.”

Worldwide, nearly 160,000 individuals are diagnosed with the disease annually, according to the International Myeloma Foundation. To raise awareness and funding towards research and finding a cure for MM, the foundation is hosting the 13th Annual Miles for Myeloma 5k Run/Walk.

This year, Miles for Myeloma has set a goal to raise $60,000 towards the research. Families and friends are welcome to create virtual teams for the run/walk. Led by his children, Linda Soto and Chuck Allen, Allen’s family has created “That One Team,” to be part of the Miles for Myeloma 5K Run/Walk. The team has raised $2,940 so far.

All donations will go towards the research for Multiple Myeloma. The virtual run/walk will be held on Saturday, April 24 and participants will send in proof their miles. You can visit the give.myeloma.org for more information on the run/walk and visit <https://bit.ly/3mPpZdm>

Latest COVID-19 Statistics the Community & Updates to Vaccines Administered to GRIC Members

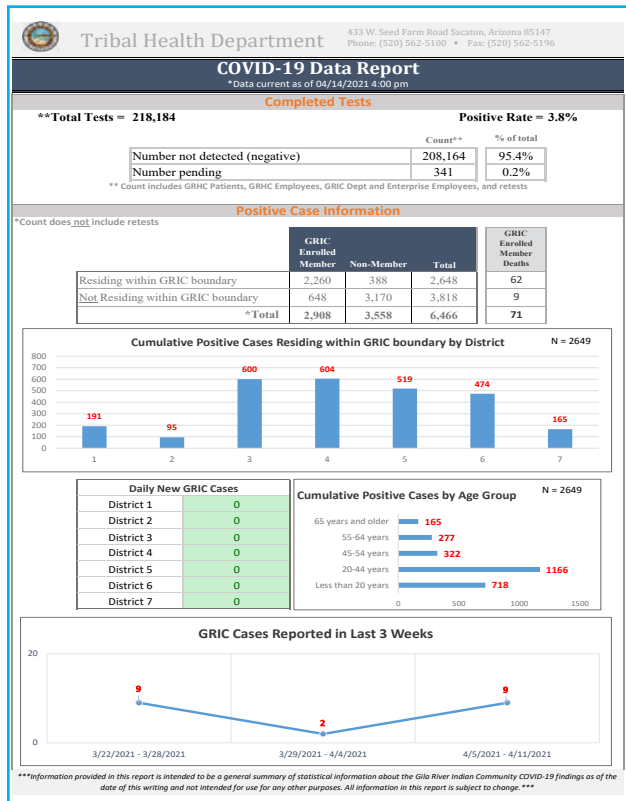

Emma Hughes
Gila River Indian News

With a decrease in COVID-19 cases in the Gila River Indian Community and with reports and consultations with the Tribal Health Department, GRIC leadership worked to adjust some of the restrictions brought on by the pandemic. This included raising the limit of people allowed in a gathering, from five to ten and re-opening the Community in phases.

Tribal Health's COVID-19 data reported 6,466 positive cases. 2,908 of those cases are GRIC members as of April 14. Overall, the state has reached 851,265 positive cases as of April 14. Maricopa and Pima county have reported the most cases, according to the Arizona Department of Health Services.

"Please make no mistake, we're far from done with this pandemic," said Gov. Stephen Roe Lewis about the new amendments while reminding Community members of the coronavirus variants, "There's one thing you can do to help the Community get to the other side of the virus quicker and that's getting vaccinated."

Gov. Lewis attributed the decrease of cases in the Community to continued testing, vaccination, and the following Community health guidelines. "There are warnings signs out there that we may be soon facing another surge of the virus," said Gov. Lewis about the new variants that have been found, including in Arizona. There are now five variants of the virus, according to the CDC.

Eligibility for the Pfizer vaccine can now be administered to ages 16 and 17, with the consent of a parent or guardian by appointment only with GRHC. The Moderna is available to recipients 18 years and older. Individuals who have received the Moderna and Pfizer vaccines are expected to be fully vaccinated two-weeks after receiving the second dose.

In recent developments, the GRHC has suspended administering of the Johnson & Johnson vaccine.

According to a Communications & Public Affairs press release, the Community made the decision based on guidance from the Centers for Disease Control and the Indian Health Service to pause administration of the J&J vaccine.

The halt of the J&J vaccine is based on reports from six individuals in the United States, who experienced rare adverse effects from the vaccine.

It is important to note that none of the reports originated from vaccines given in the Community and those six cases are out of 6.8 million total J&J vaccines administered across the United States.
